KEY TAKEAWAYS

Millennials like to research – help them learn about their options with tools like Assurity’s simple consumer-focused articles and explore prices with our quoting tools.

Don’t sell with statistics – Millennials like stories instead. Use your own stories and resources like LifeHappens to find something that resonates with them.

Start conversations online – Meet Millennials where they spend their time to open the door for conversations (our social media prospecting kit is a great start), then bring the discussion offline to make the sale.
